Personal Statement

I'm a graphic designer, developer and creative. I have over three years agency experience and also work as a freelance graphic designer from my home studio. I have produced a range of design, illustrative and interactive work for a variety of clients employing a design style that is both clean and functional.

Applying ongoing self-learning and an ability to identify and implement a process of development and standards I am able to problem-solve and work in a team, independently or under direction and complete both operational and creative tasks.

I would be happy to arrange a presentation of my portfolio, and you can also visit colinelliot.com to see some of my work.
